

Poetry so sharp
it will cut the roof
of your mouth.

flip me!

One snips authentically around the edges of an erotic coming of age tale, then plunges into the heart of what it means to be a woman; the other stabs precisely into the chaos of love, loss and levity - all with complete ubiquity. United in Indigo Ink's debut "flip" edition, two pointed, poignant poets will cleave you, leave you ragged with their jagged lines and barbed writing.
